01. Use of grant monitoring procedures (Part I, line 2)

Procedures for monitoring the use of grant funds include the provision of progress reports, telephone or in-person progress meetings, and implementation of milestone-based payment schedules.

Progress reporting schedules may be monthly, quarterly or annually, depending on the specific nature of the project being funded. Telephone or in-person meetings are also requested to align with the progress reporting schedule. All grantees are required to submit annual progress reports as well as a final report summarizing achievements throughout the course of the grant period.

Payment schedules for grantees may be tied to specific reporting milestones or to technical milestones, depending upon the nature of the research project being funded.

02. Method of accounting for expenditures (Part I, line 3, col f)

01. Monitoring procedures (Part I, line 2)

Procedures for monitoring the use of grant funds include the provision of progress reports, telephone or in-person progress meetings, and implementation of milestone-based payment schedules.

Progress reporting schedules may be monthly, quarterly or annually, depending on the specific nature of the project being funded. Telephone or in-person meetings are also requested to align with the progress reporting schedule. All grantees are required to submit annual progress reports as well as a final report summarizing achievements throughout the course of the grant period.

Payment schedules for grantees may be tied to specific reporting milestones or to technical milestones, depending upon the

Explanation

Advocacy: during the year we continued to be in touch with reporters on various topics related to development of male contraceptives, and we were mentioned or quoted in a wide variety of media outlets. We also continued to increased our social media outreach efforts. We provided support for competitive travel grants for two young professionals from developing countries to attend an international conference on contraception, instituted an inaugural competitive public health fellowship in collaboration with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and established a Youth Advisory Board. Finally, we provided $54,065 in support for an ideation workshop to convene leaders in male contraception, and from other fields of practice including basic research, product development, pharmaceutical marketing, regulatory approval, design, and more, to gather diverse thoughts about how to develop a proactive approach to ensure that non-hormonal, reversible male contraceptive products make it to market as quickly as possible.
